FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Century 400 Updates To SAP System

May 1, 2007

Chandler, AZ – Century 400 is pleased and excited to announce the start to the long awaited upgrade of our computer information systems. Mid 2008 will see the transition from the current Mapics/AS400 environment to the powerful SAP system.

As we prepare for this conversion, you will notice a new look and feel to literature, order acknowledgements, invoices, packing slips, product labeling and PO's. Our existing products will now have an additional item number designation that will be utilized in the new system in 2008. Effective immediately, the additional product identifier will be displayed along with our current information to help ease the transition, familiarize you with the new format, and ensure a seamless conversion. As new products are introduced to the Century 400 family the new format for the item number will be assigned immediately.

There has been no change to our existing sku's as they exist today and you can continue to order product with the current part numbers / designations throughout 2007.

A common example of the new format is shown below:

(AM3) 1.004-019.0

(Part Number 53809) 8.600-550.0

Century 400 remains dedicated to the pursuit of continuous improvement and easier business interactions with you, our customers and suppliers. Our approach to this conversion process will focus on these objectives as well. This will be the first of many communications regarding this process.
